

Junior Social Media Executive

Remi | Dublin 3 | Full-Time

Remi is growing: and we're looking for someone who wants to grow with us.

We're looking for a creative, driven and enthusiastic Junior Social Media Executive to join our team in Dublin 3.

This is an exciting opportunity for a recent graduate or someone nearing the end of college who wants to get stuck into a fast-moving start-up and build real experience across social media, content creation, video, photography and brand development.

We're currently in the process of expanding Remi into the USA, making this an exciting time to join the business.

The role

This isn't a role where you'll simply be posting content that someone else has created. We want someone who is hands-on, creative and full of ideas; someone who wants to help shape how Remi is seen online and document our journey as we grow.

- Creating and editing social media content for Instagram, TikTok and other platforms.
- Shooting and editing short-form video and imagery.
- Coming up with new and engaging content ideas.
- Helping develop and execute our social media strategy.
- Photographing and filming products, people, events and behind-the-scenes content.
- Creating Reels, TikToks, Stories and other social-first content.
- Supporting campaigns, launches and marketing activity.
- Following social trends and identifying opportunities for Remi.
- Helping build the Remi brand and community online.
- Documenting the real journey of a growing start-up; the highs, the lows, the challenges and the wins.
- Travelling with the team to the USA when required to capture content and document our international expansion.

Who we're looking for

You don't need years of experience. We're much more interested in your attitude, creativity and potential.

- A recent graduate or approaching graduation.
- Passionate about social media and content creation.

- Comfortable using platforms such as Instagram and TikTok.
- Interested in photography, video and editing.
- Familiar with tools such as Canva, CapCut, Adobe or similar, but we're happy to help you develop your skills.
- Naturally creative and constantly coming up with ideas.
- Driven, ambitious and eager to learn.
- Comfortable working in a fast-paced start-up environment.
- Not afraid to get stuck in and try new things.
- Organised and able to manage multiple projects.
- Confident, enthusiastic and willing to put yourself out there.
- Excited by the opportunity to help build something from an early stage.

Why join Remi?

This is an opportunity to grow with a business rather than simply work for one.

You'll have the chance to gain experience across social media, marketing, content, branding and international expansion while working closely with the founder and wider team.

As Remi grows, we want the people who join us early to grow with us too.

There will be opportunities to take on more responsibility, develop your skills and carve out your own role within the business.

And yes, there is the opportunity to travel to the USA with the team, helping to film and document Remi's expansion into the American market.
